ST. ELIZABETH'S, KILLBUCK CREEK
COSHOCTON COUNTY, OHIO
1856-1892

Plat of the property of St. Elizabeth's, Killbuck Creek, Monroe township, Coshocton county, Ohio, from the Parish Plat Book of the 1880's, Columbus Diocese Archives.

Thirty-six years does not seem long for the life of a parish. But for a mission parish whose log chapel became too small and was replaced by a larger church at a different location, it is not surprising. Such was the case with one of several early missions of Coshocton county, Ohio.

Located atop the rolling hills of Monroe township in the northern part of that county, our mission was known as St. Elizabeth's, Killbuck Creek, since it was a short distance from that stream. (The present town of Killbuck is located some miles north in Holmes county.) Dedicated in 1856 to Sts. Mary and Elizabeth, it was replaced in 1892 by a larger frame church, St. Rose of Lima, less than two miles north in the town of Spring Mountain.

Some Catholic German farmers were settled in Monroe township by the early 1840's, so that by January, 1844, Father John Baptist Lamy, then stationed at Danville in Knox county, could report (1) to Bishop Purcell of Cincinnati of his "Killbuck mission." The report was for the year 1843. The list of missions about which he wrote, included, besides Danville, St. Joseph's, Mohican; Pine Run, Richland county (forerunner of St. Michael's, Brownsville, Knox county); Killbuck, Coshocton county; St. Vincent de Paul, Mt. Vernon, and St. Francis de Sales, Newark. Father Lamy reported that in 1843 there were 25 baptisms, three marriages, five First Communions and seven deaths at Killbuck and Pine Run together.

It is worthy of note that Coshocton county has the credit of having had several very early mission churches. The first one was St. Michael's, Plainfield, established in 1841 (2). This was followed in 1844 by St. Mary's, Linton township, where a group of Catholic German immigrants had settled. In 1847 Father Lamy reported that he visited "White Woman" every three months, where there were nine Catholic families (3). Another mission, St. Nicholas, in Franklin township, was established in 1856 to care for some Catholic French immigrants who had settled there. The next year Coshocton itself was to have its own church, named St. George.

Missionaries from Zanesville, Muskingum county, had travelled to Coshocton county very early. It was from that city that the county's first Catholic church, St. Michael's, Plainfield, was attended. In the 1850's the Coshocton missions were under the care of Father Bender (4), then pastor at Newark. He saw to the building of the church at Killbuck Creek in 1856, and of the one at Wills Creek, Franklin township, that same year. In the summer of that year Archbishop Purcell wrote (5) a summary of his visitation of that area.

After celebrating Mass in the home of William Mattingly in Muskingum county where a church was being built, the archbishop went to Coshocton county. He wrote: "On Tuesday, 12th, Church was held at St. Ann's (6), Wills Creek. There were twenty-seven confirmed. On Wednesday, the new chapel of Sts. Mary and Elizabeth, Killbuck, Coshocton county, was dedicated and six persons confirmed. On Thursday, 13th August, two persons were confirmed at St. Matthew's church (7), Dresden. There are very many most excellent Catholics at Dresden, Coshocton, Wills Creek, and Killbuck, but they have no pastor, receiving only monthly, or less frequent, hurried visits from Zanesville and Newark which need all the time and care of their respective pastors...."

Although the church at Killbuck Creek was dedicated in August, 1856, the property on which it stood was not acquired by Archbishop Purcell until the following April 11th. On that date Conrad Hagne (8) and his wife, Elizabeth, transferred a parcel of land in Monroe township, Coshocton county, to the archbishop for seventy dollars. It was estimated to contain one acre and thirty-five hundredths (9).

Although the deed for the church property gives the owner's name as Conrad Hagne, all church records thereafter give his surname as "Heck". When he died Father Jacquet wrote of him in his burial record: "Conrad Heck, died Jan. 9, in his 89th year (88Y 2M). Born in Foll in 1799 in Hessia. Mr. Heck was a very good man; either occupied as a citizen or as a Catholic; very industrious and generous; for a half century his house was the home of the priest and bishop whenever the little congregation of Killbuck was visited."

Not much is known about the little mission parish during its early years. It was soon to live through the Civil War years of the country. Eventually the small log church was abandoned and came to ruin. The cemetery which surrounded the church came to ruin also. Not many tombstones remain today. Broken ones have been hauled to a nearby ravine and covered over.

Sacramental records of the early years have not been found. After Father Bender built the church in 1856, he continued to attend the mission through 1858. The annual Catholic Directory of 1859 gives him as still looking after Killbuck Creek. However, Father Serge de Stchoulepnikoff came to Coshocton as pastor in 1858 and took charge of the missions of the county. This meant he was responsible for the spiritual care of the congregation of St. Elizabeth's. He was succeeded in 1862 by Father Andrews (10), who in turn was succeeded by Father Rauch (11) and Nordmeyer (12). Unfortunately, records for these years have not been preserved.

Father John Mary Jacquet became pastor at Coshocton in 1869. From that time until the demise of St. Elizabeth's in 1892, complete records are available. It was in that year that Father Jacquet built St. Rose of Lima church in Spring Mountain to replace St. Elizabeth's, now too small for the congregation.

Three baptisms in May 1869 were the first recorded by Father Jacquet for St. Elizabeth's. The following year he began recording the number of those who made their Easter Communion. There were 72. This number gradually increased, reaching 83 in 1892, the last year for the church. In 1874 he reported 18 families at Killbuck. This increased only to 20 in the years to follow.

Fortunately, a list of the names of the families is found in the census of the parish which he took in 1874. The list:

Families	Number of members
J. & B. Grassbaugh	8
Joseph Philipps	5
Conrad Heck	2
William Cronaple	5
Vincent Havrick	4
Jacob Hemmer, Sr.	2
Jacob Hemmer, Jr.	7
Joseph Havrick	3
Anthony Lentz	3
John Cronaple	4
Lawrence Fesler	8
The Misses Out	2
James Daugherty	5
John Lauher	10
Clement Weil	3
Mrs. Weil	2
Joseph Tirally	2
Widow Ripl	7
18 families	82 members

Later, in 1881, Father Jacquet compiled a complete census of the Killbuck parish, giving the names of the parents and the children in each family.

Bishop Rosecrans visited St. Elizabeth's on Nov. 8, 1870, and confirmed four persons: Clement Lower, Elizabeth Havrick, Margaret Lower and Mary Magdalene Havrick. On Oct. 7, 1877, eleven from Killbuck were confirmed by Bishop Rosecrans in St. George's, Coshocton. A few years later, June 21, 1885, Bishop Watterson came to St. Elizabeth's and confirmed eleven.

 (2) See history of St. Michael's, Plainfield, "Bulletin", Catholic Record Society, Columbus, Ohio, October, 1978.

(3) "White Woman Rock" is about three miles northwest of Coshocton.
 (4) Father Damian Bender (1831-1914), pastor at Newark 1855-1865.
 (5) Archbishop Purcell's report was published in the "Catholic Telegraph," Cincinnati, August 23, 1856, Archdiocese of Cincinnati Archives.
 (6) This was probably St. Mary's, Linton township, Wills Creek.
 (7) St. Matthew's, Dresden, later became St. Anne's.
 (8) Conrad Hagne is clearly the name in the deed. Later records have "Heck".
 (9) Coshocton County Deed Books, Vol. 31, p. 680.
 (10) Father M. Andrews, pastor for two different periods between 1862 and 1865.
 (11) Father John Joseph Rauch, pastor at St. Nicholas, Zanesville. He probably took care of Coshocton and missions during Father Andrews short stay at Canal Dover.
 (12) Father Johann G. Nordmeier (1838-1894), pastor at Coshocton, 1867-1869.
